

The image displays four stacked line graphs, each representing a different time series. The top graph is red, the second is green, the third is orange, and the bottom is blue. Each graph shows a fluctuating line over a horizontal axis, with no explicit labels or titles. The red line has the highest peaks, followed by the green, orange, and blue lines in descending order of their maximum values. The blue line shows the most frequent oscillations.